New British Car of Juggernaut Wins Fresh Victories

New British Armored Tractor Charging a German Trench

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Much of the credit for the fresh British victories along the Somme is due to the new armored tractor which made its appearance on the battle front about the middle of September. This new "superdreadnought of the land" is hailed as one of the most deadly engines of the war by London papers. Says the Evening Standard:

"England's latest weapon of war is nothing more nor less than a huge landship fully armored and capable of traveling at fair speed over the shell-battered and cratered terrain of Picardy. Designed, as they are, to traverse the most difficult country and to sweep away all obstacles in their path, they naturally are of fairly large size, with caterpillar wheels constructed to cover the widest trench or shell hole and to enable the vehicle to tackle almost any depth of mire. Their crews are protected by varying numbers of armored plates, any one of which is impervious to machine gun or rifle fire as well as shrapnel bullets, and it is asserted that only a direct hit from a gun of larger caliber could put one of these monsters out of commission."

ENGLAND TARGET OF CHANCELLOR BEFORE REICHSTAG SESSION

Speech, Containing No Offers for Peace, Wins Approval of Majority of the Members

ATTACKS BRITISH POLICY

Dead Germany, Economically and Militarily, Designs of England, Chancellor Declares

BERLIN, Sept. 29.—"Heavy and violent is the fighting on the Somme and the end is not in sight. Further sacrifices are necessary. This or that village may be lost. But they will not push through our line. This is assured by our commanders and by the incomparable bravery of troops from all parts of Germany."

This declaration of his faith in the success of German arms, made by the chancellor in his address before the reichstag yesterday won the most liberal applause of any statement of his whole speech.

The chancellor reviewed briefly the economic situation and declared that the English blockade had failed. He paid tribute to the heroism with which the German nation bears the burdens of war and especially to the heroism "with which our sons and brothers on the front withstand the furious attacks of an enemy far superior in numbers and projectiles."

The chancellor made no offers of peace, and he indicated that in view of the utterances of allied statesmen it would be folly to expect an early ending of the war.

His speech lacked the hopeful tone of his former addresses.

"The desire for territorial conquest by our enemies is responsible for the daily piling of mountains of corpses," said the chancellor. "The British leave no doubt as to what they wish to do to Germany. They wish to crush out our existence as a nation. A Germany crushed economically defenseless from the military standpoint, boycotted by the world and condemned to eternal feebleness—that is the Germany England wishes to see at her feet."

"Then, when England no longer fears German competition, when France had been bled to death, when all her allies are slaves of England, when European neutrals must submit to every British order, the dream of British world supremacy is to become a reality."

"A German statesman, who would hesitate to use against this enemy (England) every available instrument that would really shorten the war—such a statesman deserves to be hanged."

Bethmann-Hollweg declared the central powers have frustrated every plan of the allies to break Germany's connections with the Orient by crushing Turkey, Bulgaria or Austria separately. Aside from isolated allied successes on the Somme, the general situation is unchanged, he added.

"From the very beginning, this war has been for Germany nothing but the defense of our rights of life and liberty," said the chancellor. "Therefore Germany, first and only of all the belligerents, declared her readiness for negotiations on December 9, 1915, and later on several occasions."

The Fight For Combles Bombardment Terrific

Henry Wood Describes the Great Battle of British Before Strongly Defended Positions of Germans

BY HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES NEAR COMBLES, Sept. 29.—Horses, lashed into a furious gallop by mad riders, dashed forward over a sunken road with huge quantities of ammunition; aeroplanes, hovering above vulture-like awaiting the fall of Combles; men sweating, fighting their way forward over shell pocked roads in terrible shell fire—

These were some of the dramatic scenes that preceded the capture of the strongly fortified village that had blocked the allied advance north of the Somme.

The eventual capture of Combles became a certainty on Tuesday morning when French cavalry patrols advancing northeastward and English cavalry patrols, thrusting southeastward, met eastward of Combles. They thus completely encircled the village, cutting off the last communications with the German army in the rear.

On the same morning I approached Combles from the west, starting from Maricourt, the junction point from which the French and English offensive was launched July first and traversing each successive step in the advance made in the intervening three months toward the attainment of this first great objective. When we arrived within less than a mile and a quarter of Combles, the town itself was then undergoing the final bombardment and assault.

Terrific Bombardment

Although Combles was a mere village of 1,500 inhabitants the Germans had so fortified every house, especially the cellars where machine guns were installed, that the allies were forced to employ siege methods. They completely encircled the town with their heavy artillery, which gradually closed in with every advance of the infantry lines.

From the viewpoint of the enormous quantity of artillery massed against it and also from the incalculable number of shells rained into it, Combles can easily boast of having undergone the most terrific siege in the history of the world.

It was only on reaching the most advanced artillery lines before Combles that one could grasp the methodical progress which had rendered the allies' new tactics of advancing by heavy artillery absolutely irresistible, though the final artillery lines before Combles consisted of comparatively light batteries. These had been rushed forward during the night over ground rendered impassable by shell holes to everything but foot soldiers.

But while troops were tugging guns across this ground, a winding road of soldiers and a veritable army of several feet below the surface of the ground, paving it with bricks from nearby houses, wrecked by artillery fire. Over this, when we arrived early the next morning, munition caissons, screened from the enemy's observation by the depth of the roadways, drawn by four, six and even eight horses, were dashing along every moment with an incredible number of shells necessary to feed these advanced lines of artillery which could be reached in no other way.

Build Motor Roads

Back from these advanced lines, fed by galloping, careening caissons, were thousands more soldiers, methodically transforming what had been the preceding day caisson roads, into highways capable of sustaining huge automobile convoys bringing up heavier munitions and heavier artillery that had supplanted the lighter guns now further advanced during the night.

PETER THE GREAT DIES AS BECOMES KING OF THE AIR

The wild career of "Peter The Great," an eagle which was captured a year ago by a twelve-year-old boy, was abruptly brought to an end by a bullet while a hundred persons who had been attracted watched Peter in his death battle with Dr. E. J. Bjorkman, 129 South Seventh street, last week. Although severely wounded, the eagle inflicted several inch-deep gashes in the doctor's hand with his talons while his captor held the bird by the throat.

John Kernan, of Middle Ridge, then twelve years old, caught Peter in the woods near his home about a year ago. Young Kernan came upon the bird unexpectedly. The eagle had not sensed Kernan's presence and Kernan caught it by the feet. After a terrific struggle Peter was subdued and placed in a sack.

The bird's master was sent to attend St. Joseph's parochial school in La Crosse when the school opened recently. John P. Wright, fireman at central station, volunteered to build a larger cage for Peter and care for him. Wright placed the bird and cage in the veterinarian hospital of Dr. Benjamin F. Holmes, 136 South Seventh street, and all would have been well with Peter yet if a group of boys in the neighborhood hadn't taken a fancy to him.

They teased Peter. Once they lifted a slat, and Peter flew out. He selected the garage of Dr. Bjorkman to perch upon while he took his bearings. Dr. Bjorkman saw him and called for the aid of Frank Schwalbe, who brought a rifle. Five shots were necessary to bring Peter to the ground.

Peter played "fox" and when Dr. Bjorkman sought to lift him, thinking him dead, he sunk his talons deep into the flesh of his hand.

One more bullet from Schwalbe's gun, however, ended the struggle.

GANG OF YEGGS SECURE $9,000 IN CANADA BANK

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Sept. 29.—Nine thousand dollars in cash were secured when a gang of burglars held up the Bank of Hamilton, branch bank at Caron, eighteen miles from here, during the night. The yeggsmen cut all telephone and telegraph wires into Caron, then cut local wires leading to the bank and bound the watchman. The safe was blown.

BRIGHT SKIES AND BIG RACING CARD DRAW MANY TO FAIR

Crowd Estimated at Six Thousand Enters Gates Before 2 O'clock; Attendance Record for Week Expected

THE TRACK IS FAST

Best Turf Conditions Since the Opening of Fair Found and Good Time Is Made by the Double Field of Horses

At 2 o'clock Friday afternoon officials estimated that there were six thousand people on the fair grounds. The crowds began arriving early in the day and it is believed that the attendance will outnumber any previous day of the week. With the first perfect weather since the opening Tuesday, the big crowds are making up for the downpour of Thursday and poor weather of the first two days of the fair.

The race track is said to be in almost perfect condition, and the racing card, including events scheduled for Thursday and those of Friday, was begun at 2 o'clock sharp. The North Side Military band entertained with lively music in the grandstand.

Bill Bailey strode under the wire an easy victor in the first two heats of the 2:25 pacing event, the first race of the afternoon. He made the heats in 2:19; and 2:20 1/4. Joan McKinney won two seconds and Little West took third position in both heats.

Mischief, well known to La Crosse people, won the first heat of the 2:12 pace in 2:14 1/4, amid a roar of applause from the grandstand. Captain Heir-at-Law was second and Kid Riley third.

Normal Men Scrimmage

Fair visitors were witnesses of an additional "free attraction" Friday afternoon when the normal gridiron warriors trotted out into their field in the paddock and staged a scrimmage practice. The first and second squads rammed each other, and the impromptu amusement hugely delighted the fair crowds.

Despite a cold day which made overcoats blossom on everyone, preceded by an all-morning rain which in the natural course of events might have been expected to keep everyone at home, more than 5,000 people passed through the gates of the Interstate fair yesterday and mingled with the big crowd which surged up and down the midway and through the exposition building.

Everybody Happy

The barkers shivered and snuffled, and the performers huddled in furs along the midway, but everyone was cheerful and happy about it, and there was plenty of business for all the concessionaires. The automobile show, the exposition building and the agricultural exhibits under the grandstand were flooded with folks, as on previous days, and when the sun came out and slightly warmed the frosty atmosphere the crowd got more lively and jovial than on any previous day of this year's fair.

There was disappointment among many of the visitors because the rain had put the track into such shape that racing was impossible, but many of them stayed over night to be present for the biggest card of the week on Friday, and with a bright day prospects were that the closing day of the fair would see the largest crowd of the week.

The track on Friday morning was reported to be as hard and fast as a clay tennis court. Soaked by the rain into a compact mass, it was smooth and firm when the sun of Thursday afternoon and Friday morning had got in its work, and a little dragging put it into the best possible shape by noon. With four races scheduled on a speedy course, the horses were expected to be the center of interest Friday afternoon.

Judging in all the exhibits is practically completed, and the fair officials are now compiling the results for announcement later. Some of the agricultural exhibits were cleared away by their owners on Thursday, and the fair was beginning to show signs of having finished its 1916 existence.

TRI-COUNTY TOUR PRECEDES SPEECH AT COURT HOUSE

Burt Williams Due Here Friday After Trip Over Eau Claire and Trempealeau Counties

Burt Williams, democratic candidate for governor, was to get into La Crosse for his speech from the courthouse steps at 7:30 Friday night, according to the schedule announced for him at democratic campaign headquarters here. Mr. Williams began the day in Eau Claire county, with a speech at Augusta. There he was met by E. J. Kneen, Bangor prominent La Crosse county democrat and former assemblyman, who piloted the candidate in an automobile through Trempealeau and La Crosse counties.

Mr. Williams' itinerary for the day included brief talks at Osseo, Strum, Eleva, Independence and Arcadia. He was expected to come straight from the last named community to La Crosse.

Arriving at 7:30, Mr. Williams was to be given only the briefest of time for dinner and rest. A band concert preceding his speech from the courthouse was scheduled to start at 7:30, and the candidate is expected to begin his discussion of state issues at 8 o'clock from the courthouse steps.

W. F. Wolfe of this city, democratic candidate for the U. S. senate, did not meet Mr. Williams when he entered this district. "Billy" is off in the northern part of the state campaigning, and his brother, A. C. Wolfe, county chairman of the party, with N. C. Bacheller, sub-district campaign manager, took charge of the candidate. It was expected that Mr. Wolfe would introduce him.

"Billy" Wolfe spoke last night at Grantsburg in Burnett county. Friday he was to speak in Washburn and Sawyer counties, ending with a meeting at Hayward in the evening. He speaks at Lancaster, Grant county, Saturday evening.

PANCHO VILLA REPORTED LEADING IN PERSON BLOODY BATTLE AGAINST CARRANZISTAS AT CUSHUIRACHIC

BRITISH TAKE NO REST IN VIOLENT SMASH ON SOMME

Haig Reports Lines Advanced from Courcelotte and Capture of Position Near Le Sars

FRENCH MOVE FORWARD

Gains Made Between Morval and Fregicourt in Movement to Squeeze Germans from Peronne, Report

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Without a moment's lull in the five-day battle north of the Somme, the British advanced from the direction of Courcelotte early Friday morning and captured a strongly defended farm southwest of Le Sars, General Haig reported.

British bombers were active in the neighborhood of the Schwaben redoubt and the Hessian trench. Parts of this trench are still held by the enemy. North of Thiepval the new British positions were heavily bombarded.

On the greater part of the front there was quiet last night.

French Go Forward

PARIS, Sept. 29.—General Foch's troops made further progress north of the Somme Thursday night, advancing between Morval and Fregicourt in the eastward sweep to squeeze the Germans out of Peronne, it was officially announced Friday.

FIRST "DIPS" IN EIGHT YEARS TAKE TWO POCKETBOOKS

Three Alleged Pickpockets Are Arrested After Two Visitors Plucked

FAMOUS CROOK WAS HERE?

Police Believe That One of the Trio Put Out of Town on Thursday Is the Noted Solly Cohen

Pickpockets, for the first time since the Saengerfest eight years ago, descended upon La Crosse for the interstate fair. Two pocketbooks, the first taken in La Crosse since the police rounded up thirteen "dips" during the Saengerfest, were reported stolen Thursday. Three alleged pickpockets were arrested Thursday evening, and are now being held at central station.

The victims of the lightfingered visitors Thursday were Casper Vogard, Lanesboro, and A. Raffelson, West Salem. Vogard lost $15 at the north gate of the fair grounds. Raffelson reported the loss of $31, which he believed to have been taken shortly after he left the ticket window on the grounds.

Famous Cohen Here

Incidentally, the police believe that one of the best known pickpockets in the country, one Solly Cohen, was leader of the trio of alleged "dips" arrested Wednesday afternoon within an hour after they reached the city. They were escorted to a train and sent out of the city Thursday morning, without having had a chance to work. One of them, Charles Fox, was arrested at a hotel just as he was firing up an opium pipe, the police said.

The man believed to be Solly Cohen gave his name as Sam Meyer, Minneapolis. He corresponds, however, to a minute description of the famous "dip," and did not deny his identity very strongly. The authorities were forced to let the trio go because they had done no "jobs" in La Crosse.

Cohen and his two companions were the "upper crust" of crooksdom. They registered at Hotel Stoddard for the best accommodations of the hostelry, and carried expensive luggage packed with a variety of flashy and costly apparel. All three were dressed in the height of fashion.

The three arrested Thursday evening were William Harrisin, alias S. Greene, William Healy alias A. Kaufman, and Joe Risner. A fourth suspect, who the police say is E. Morris, ran and escaped.

Gang Thought Broken Up

The police redoubled their vigilance at the fair grounds Friday afternoon with the knowledge that the crooks have decided La Crosse is ripe for a "clean-up." They believe that in the arrests of Thursday they have rounded up most of the gang, and that the others will be afraid to attempt any further thefts.

"These are the first pocketbooks that have been 'lifted' in La Crosse since we got thirteen of a gang of more than a score during the Saengerfest," Chief J. B. Webber said. "At that time they got just one pocketbook with $6 in it. We arrested them so fast that they were afraid to work, and a gang of eighteen of them lay all day behind the old Clark lively barn on Fifth street until darkness, when they slipped out of town and walked to Medary to catch a train. Since that time the 'dips' have left us alone."

"During the Eagles' convention we picked up a 'mob,' but we got them before they got to work, and in the last two fair weeks we haven't found any."

TOWN REPORTED CAPTURED WITH HEAVY LOSSES

Part of Garrison Reported Deserting and Going Over to the Forces of the Bandit Leader

HUNDRED VILLISTAS DEAD?

Bandit Leader Believed Killed and That De Facto Commander Ramos Has Fled Toward Santa Ysabel

EL PASO, Texas, Sept. 29.—In one of the bloodiest battles since the Mexican revolutions began, a large force of Villista bandits engaged Carranza troops Wednesday at Cusiuhirachic, fifty miles west of Chihuahua City. Meager details of the battle began to sweep across the border Friday. Carranza officials at Juarez admit that losses on both sides ran into the hundreds.

From representatives in Cusiuhirachic, mining men here on Friday received a message indicating that Villa had captured the town after fierce fighting in which part of the garrison revolted and went over to the bandits. It is reported that Villa in person led his army to the attack.

That Pancho Villa had administered a severe defeat to Mexican de facto forces and was still in possession of the town of Cusiuhirachic Thursday night was the report received by agents of one of the United States government departments Friday.

From the Mexican manager of an American owned mine near Cusiuhirachic officers here are in receipt of a telegram from Madera, Chihuahua, saying he had fled and was coming to Juarez on a gasoline velocipede over the railroad. It is believed here if the Carranzistas were victorious the manager would have returned to the mine.

From Carranza authorities at Juarez few details are available. It was said that up to the present the only news received was a message to Chihuahua City from General Ramos, commanding the de facto troops engaged in the battle, asking that a hospital train and surgeons be rushed to his assistance. Ramos himself was slightly wounded.

To this request Ramos added the information that in the battle with the bandits 100 Villistas were killed, their leader, General Nribe, captured and that de facto forces suffered heavy casualties.

It was pointed out that Ramos' laconic statement there had been a big battle portended another victory for the bandits, for had the Carranza forces been successful it would have been immediately announced.

The town of Cusiuhirachic is an important mining center. Several American owned mines with offices in El Paso are located in that region.

ARMED MEXICANS OVER BORDER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Thirty armed Mexicans, belonging to the command of Colonel Revel, a Carranza officer, were found concealed in the brush two miles west of Yalapa, Texas, by a patrol of the Eighth cavalry Thursday. General Funston reported to the war department on Friday.

The Mexicans were dismounted, Funston said, and were concealed, except one, who, mounted on a burro, was on guard. The Mexicans retreated across the Rio Grande when discovered. The mounted Mexican left so hurriedly, Funston declared, that he left his burro. He also left a carbine marked "Troop K". Tenth cavalry—the colored troop that was engaged in the Carrizal battle. No shots were fired on either side.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

ON THE ROAD TO BRADDOCK

BY SUSAN CLAGETT.

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

There were to have been ten in the party, but at the last moment Dorothy Tennant failed them. When he heard this Grahame found that important business would detain him in town and handed his car over to Lawrence Brooke, who was not pleased with the turn of events. He and the girl who was to have been the fourth in Grahame's car were in trouble, and when it comes to taking a sixty-mile drive with an iceberg sitting beside one it is not surprising that Brooke was in a state of mind not describable. As for the girl—what she thought was not evident. But she had whitened suddenly when Dorothy's message reached them. The others had gone on ahead. There was no time to fill the vacant places, and pride prevented either of the two from withdrawing from the trip.

The situation was awkward, but it was carried off by the girl, who seated herself beside Lawrence and spared no pains to make general talk. This she could do, for she was more than a girl. She was a woman who had traveled and read extensively and had the fortunate gift of being agreeable without touching upon the personal.

When it is known that the misunderstanding between the two had resulted in the breaking of their engagement it will be seen that it required both pride and tact for her to keep to her policy of treating the man beside her as a newly-acquired acquaintance to whom she was making herself entertaining. Women can do this thing—men, never. Lawrence was in a state of bewilderment, which was fast becoming anger.

Finally it was anger that held him in an iron grip, that had grown to white heat. That she could ignore—be so indifferent to past relations—was beyond his understanding, but he was determined to know the reason back of the letter he had received from her.

It was a coldly-worded letter and gave no explanation as to why she broke with him. She had merely stated the bald fact that she had changed her mind.

"If she thinks she can keep the conversation in her hands until we reach Braddock she is mistaken," he told himself grimly. "We will have a reckoning before then." He volunteered no remark of his own, and no matter how brilliant a conversationalist one may be the continued silence of one's companion will eventually control the situation.

So it was with these two. The talk became spasmodic, faltered, then ceased altogether. Then he spoke to her.

"I have been wondering, Mary, how long you would be able to keep it up; wondering when you would sense the fact that there was something of infinitely more importance than this trip you have been telling me about. No doubt it was interesting, but the important topic to me just now is ourselves. I cannot follow the intricacies of your woman's mind and I have sought in vain for an explanation of the letter you sent me. You did not answer my note, refused to see me. I would not have forced myself upon you after that, but fate seems to be having a hand in our affairs, and I should be a fool not to take advantage of this opportunity. I want to know the reason you broke with me, and be sure, Mary, that I will know the real reason, not a make-believe one. There must have been a powerful one back of it. What was it?"

The road was so filled with vehicles he had not looked at her. Even now he did not turn his head, but his voice was compelling.

She did not answer his question. She could not. Her voice had failed her. There were tears in her eyes.

"I am very much in earnest, Mary," he said, after a long wait. As she did not reply, he drove to the side of the road and stopped the car. It was then he caught a glimpse of her quickly averted face. The sight softened him, but did not alter his determination to reach an understanding. Before he again spoke she said:

"I should have told you, Lawrence, but I could not. Even now it is difficult for me to speak. You know a Mrs. Endicott, do you not, a Mrs. Charles Endicott, of Boston?"

"Well?"

"She called upon me some days ago. She had a little child with her—a very handsome boy. She told me his name was Lawrence Brooke and that his mother was alive."

"Still, I don't see—" he began perplexed. Then his face whitened.

"I understand, Mary." His voice was harsh. "But don't you think it would have been better to have come to me?"

"She showed me letters—a marriage certificate."

For some minutes he did not speak. Then he slipped his hand into an inside pocket and withdrew a letter. "I do not know how Mrs. Endicott came into possession of the paper you mention or the letter, but this one is from the boy's mother. Before you read it I must tell you there are several men bearing my name. It is a name that is given to the oldest boy in every branch of our family and more than once has caused trouble. The father of the child is the black sheep of the Brooke family. I do not often speak of him, but this comes too close to me. Lawrence deserted his wife three years ago. It is an ugly story. I prefer not to go into details, but I have just secured her freedom. She is one of those women who believed what God has joined together no man should put asunder, and I had difficulty gaining her consent to the proceedings, but it was the only thing to do. I hope you will be friends with her, Mary, for she has need of friends. Will you read her letter? She mentions you."

It was a short letter, but came from the heart of a woman who had seen deep trouble. At the last she wrote:

"You must bring her to see me, Lawrence, that sweetheart of yours. I can hardly wait until then. You have told me so much of her that my friendliness stretches out until I feel that she must feel it. I do so hope for her friendship."

"I feel as she does, Mary. I cannot wait. Let us turn back. We are too late for lunch with the crowd. I will get you something to eat later on. Meantime we are going to stop in Rockville."

"Why Rockville?" she questioned.

"It is the Gretna Green of Maryland, and I am going to run away with you," he answered lightly.

"Very well," she said soberly. "I have had a week of misery. I am now ready for a taste of happiness. But, oh! my dear, I am hungry and the lunch they are eating at Braddock Heights is a good one."

He laughed heartily as he turned the car. "How material you are, Mary! To think of food at such a moment!"

Your Baby is in Danger From Cow's Milk

Do you know that in Washington, the Government of the United States has a Public Health Service, that is working day in and day out to find out the best way to keep your baby well?

And this National Government Public Health Service says:

"One reason that each summer sees the slaughter of the innocents is because milk, as ordinarily marketed, is absolutely unfit for human use."

In the face of these words can any mother who loves her baby give him raw cow's milk full of tough indigestible curd? Cow's milk brings summer complaint, the dread scourge that takes so many babies from their mothers' arms each summer.

Nurse your baby—as long as you can, of course. If you can't, wean him on a food as free from sickness as mother's milk itself—

Nestlé's Food

(A complete food—not a milk modifier)

Nestlé's is safe, because no hand touches it and it doesn't sour. Nestlé's is safe because it contains just the right amount of proteins and carbohydrates your baby needs to build a sturdy body and an active brain. Cow's milk is the basis of Nestlé's—but cow's milk from sanitary dairies—purified, with the calf needs modified and the baby's needs added. It comes to you in a powder—packed in an air-tight can. You add only fresh water and boil.

Save your baby from the terror of summer complaint.

Send the coupon for a sample can (enough for 12 feedings) and see how Nestlé's makes him happy.

M'GREGOR WOMAN AND TWO CHILDREN DOWN IN ARIZONA

Sister of Tribune Correspondent Dies Attempting to Save Life of Her Small Son

DAUGHTER ALSO DROWNS

Nine-year-old Girl Tries to Save Mother and Brother and Her Life Is Also Taken by Stream

M'GREGOR, Iowa.—(Special.)—Mrs. A. J. Dunaway, formerly Miss Maud G. Clark, daughter of Dr. H. H. Clark of McGregor, gave her life Saturday afternoon in an unsuccessful attempt to save the life of her seven year old son, Clark, when he fell into Burch Lake near Miami, Arizona.

Little nine year old Madeline Dunaway was also drowned while heroically seeking to save her mother and brother. The bodies were taken to McGregor for interment by the husband and father, who is accompanied by his brother, J. P. Dunaway and his wife. The party arrived Sunday. Mrs. Dunaway and her children were picnicking on the shores of the lake when the boy fell into the water. In a frantic effort to save her son, Mrs. Dunaway fell into the deep pool and was sinking when her little daughter caught her by the hair and attempted to rescue her. The mother's weight was too much for the little one's strength and she too was dragged into the water.

The Dunaways were extremely popular throughout that part of Arizona and the triple tragedy caused a pall of gloom over the entire community.

Mrs. Dunaway was born December 13, 1879. She spent her early life in this place and graduated from the McGregor high school in 1897, the valedictorian of her class. Following her graduation, she attended the Iowa state university for two years. She taught the Giard schools for one year and then went to Morenci, Arizona, with her sister Florence L. Clark, where both taught in the public schools for three years. Mrs. Dunaway teaching a class of Mexican miners' children. It was at Morenci that she first met her husband, Judson Dunaway. The friendship formed ripened into love and they were married May 5, 1906. Since then they have resided, first in Cananea, Mexico, and the last few years at Miami, Arizona.

There were two children, Madeline Clark Dunaway, nine years old, and William Clark Dunaway, seven years old. Mrs. Dunaway and children spent the summer here two years ago.

Do Not Meddle With Your Ears.

Whatever plausible reasons laymen may have for treating some diseases, they should not meddle with the ear. It is a very sensitive and delicate organ, peculiarly liable to serious injury through the manipulations of men and women ignorant of its anatomy, functions and pathology. Judicious treatment is most important, but it is better to let ear troubles alone than to seek the aid of Aunt Samantha or take the advice of some officious neighbor.

"MISFIT COUPLE" HUGE SUCCESS OF VARIETY PROGRAM

O'Neil and Gallagher, in "The Misfit Couple," are proceeding leisurely and even maliciously to shell every audience with a thirty-centimeter line of singing and talking in their act featuring by a large margin the La Crosse theater's program of vaudeville which opened to a largely attended matinee Thursday. They proved themselves the funniest pair of laugh-mixers appearing here during the present variety season, and the manner in which they forced roars after roars of mirth from their victims in the darkened theater is doubly appreciated when they occasionally sing during their only two brief numbers.

Miss O'Neil, whose last visit to La Crosse caused a sensation at the Majestic, where she was seen in a "Sis Hopkins" stunt or two, sings a character song as her opening number, having something to do with "Back to New Hampshire." Mr. Gallagher does a turn. He proves himself a good singer, and after a little more music the pair take center stage and the fun begins.

Miss O'Neil is large and imposing and Gallagher can't brag of more than five feet and would easily enter the lightweight class, but he's funny enough to be with Miss O'Neil and that's funny enough for anybody.

The entire bill of five acts hasn't a weak spot, and that statement is backed up by the almost continuous applause.

Waites, champion whip crackers, the program gets an impetus that it holds all the way through. The Waites throw tomahawks and spears into the heart of a target, and one of the pair throws small boomerangs out into the audience.

The chief feature of the act is a series of whip-cracking tricks in which Mr. Waite clips the ash from a tip of a burning cigarette held in his sister's mouth. He explodes a revolver which she holds in her hand with his whip.

Four happy young ladies in pretty costumes and with pretty faces, calling themselves "The Darling Saxophone Four," give fifteen minutes or so of entertainment that seems to strike La Crosse theater audiences just right.

Boyle and Patsey are right at home on a vaudeville stage when it comes to serving comedy and cleverly singing popular songs. They are good to look at, and Patsey is a vocalist you don't run across every day. His partner has a good voice. When they "kid" each other they convulse the audience.

Gabby Brothers and Clark, "The Talkative Trio," end the bill in a manner which entitle them easily to any positions on most any other variety program, for the way they chatter while they perform wonders with clubs, diabolos and hats, is a novelty.

RUSHFORD MEN IN AUTO SMASH

RUSHFORD, Minn.—(Special.)—A former Rushford man, Peter Skaar, who in company with his brother, Lars Skaar, was on the way to Lanesboro from Winona last Sunday night, encountered an accident. Carl Johnson, of this vicinity, was another party who suffered some loss. The Skaar car was driven into the rear of Mr. Johnson's auto, bending one of the fenders; while the car of the other man was pretty well demolished. The impact of the two machines drove the Lanesboro car across the highway and partly off the road; the tangle causing a blockade of about a score of other cars, bound for Winona.

Local and Personal

Miss Lizzie Grapentine, of the vicinity of Rushford, became the bride of Edward J. Wanken, of Stockholm, a few days ago.

Mrs. Helmer Peterson and two children are guests, in Winona, of the H. E. Walling home.

Fall festival plans are about completed and the affair promises to be the best which Rushford has ever attempted.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

GRASSHOPPERS DELICACY

SANDUSKY, O., Sept. 29.—Professor Chester Bliss of the state normal school recommends grasshoppers as a delicacy. He declared that if only a woman of social prominence would start the fad, the entire country would take it up; the new morsel would appear on the bill of fare of every hostelry and the grasshopper industry would spring into prominence.

Professor Bliss enthusiastically declared that as a sandwich filler the grasshopper is par excellence.

Probably half the pleasure a woman gets out of life is due to her ability to change her mind and complexion at will.

ADVANTAGES GIVE

LEWISTON GROWTH

LEWISTON, Minn.—(Special.)—Because of varied natural resources and many other advantages, this village has made rapid strides in the past few years. The site is advantageous, being upon that rise of ground upon which the Chicago & Northwestern railway reaches the level of the tableland above the valley in which Winona is built.

New residences have been and still are, going up with great rapidity and all these are of the better class dwellings. On the street farthest south there have been erected many comfortable dwellings; the east end also being closely built. The main street has been rendered doubly useful since it's paving in the business section of the village.

The city fathers are contemplating moves which will ensure the further paving of the main street next year. A Winona contractor, John Lohse, was given the contract for the erection of the fine modern building to be the home of the Security State Bank. The work upon the building will be completed within another month. Our consolidated school has been a large factor in the drawing to the village many who otherwise would not have come.

Mrs. Schultz Buried

The funeral services for the late Mrs. Mary Schultz, mother of Miss Emma Schultz, of this village, took place at Minnesota City, last Thursday. Short services were held from the home and also from the Lutheran church, of the latter place. Interment was made there, Rev. A. W. Sauer officiating.

Old Fashioned.

They were coming back from the picnic. "We used to sing an old-fashioned song," remarked grandma, "about a one-horse open sleigh." Granddaughter was visibly puzzled. "Don't you mean a one-cylinder car?" inquired she.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Healthy Disease.

Laziness is a disease, declares one of the eminent doctors. The surprising fact is that most of the victims of the disease always look so distressingly healthy.—Providence Journal.

Complete Standstill.

There was a young fellow who was convinced that he knew it all when he graduated from college. He hasn't progressed any since.

PROMINENT WINONA MAN GIVES TREMPLEAU MOUNT TO COUNTY

John A. Latsch Buys Land on Trempealeau Mountain and Will Present Entire Tract to Boyhood Home

WANTED STATE PARK GASOLINE IN THE OIL?

Appeal to State Legislature Fails and Mr. Latsch Comes to Aid of Those Who Wanted to Preserve Historic Ground

TREMPEALEAU, Wis.—(Special.)—The generosity of John A. Latsch, Winona's benefactor, who has presented rich gifts to that city during the last few years, has been extended to Trempealeau county, his boyhood home, and the home of his father.

With the closing of a deal for a farm east of Trempealeau mountain it became known that Mr. Latsch proposes to present to Trempealeau county the entire mountain and a park near its base.

The Trempealeau project is entirely apart from the Winona gifts. The residents of Trempealeau are proud of Trempealeau mountain. It was named by the French in their early explorations. It stands out surrounded by water. At the last session of the Wisconsin legislature Trempealeau residents endeavored to have the state purchase the mountain and turn it into a state park.

The argument then was that there were on the mountain many rare plants and trees which might not be preserved if it were subjected to the ravages of men bent upon commercial purposes.

The project failed. Mr. Latsch heard of the efforts of Trempealeau residents and began months ago to purchase the mountain, comprising about 200 acres.

Already more than half of it has been secured and the deal is so far advanced that he arranged to buy the land close by and along the Mississippi. The land is known as the Ed Martin farm. It embraces 200 acres with half a mile frontage on the Mississippi. The latter deal which is incidental to the main project has just been closed. Mr. Latsch will not gain possession at once according to the terms of the purchase.

DOWN AND OUTERS PROVE THEIR METTLE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 29.—Men in need are honest. Figures compiled at the Helping Hand institute over a period of five years show that nearly all helped tried to repay and that 71 per cent repaid in full.

When an out-of-work, out-of-home man applies to the Helping Fund for aid he is given room and board until he can find a job. In some cases money is given. A very few have made off, scorning "the hand that fed." Others paid back in part and 71 out of every hundred "paid in full." Some in their return to good fortune made donations to the fund with which to help along other down and outers.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.

Says inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or have furred tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, sallow complexion, others who have bilious attacks, acid stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly.

HUGHES DECLARES FOR PRINCIPLE OF EIGHT HOUR DAY

By PERRY ARNOLD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Republican Candidate Hughes declared himself here Friday in favor of the "general principle of the eight-hour day."

Discussing the Adamson bill, which he has held was a surrender to the railroad brotherhoods in their threatened strike, Hughes declared:

"I am not opposed to the principle of an eight-hour day. I favor the general principle of the eight-hour day. I should like to see an eight-hour work day. What is the object of it? It is a relief from strain; it is to provide opportunities for recreation; it is to give the sense of contentment and reasonableness in life, from the pressure of over-exertion."

But, he declared against surrendering "anything we have."

HUGHES IS BACK IN FAMILIAR FIELD OF EMPIRE STATE

ONEONTA, N. Y., Sept. 29.—History told back seven years today—when Charles E. Hughes, "back home," was stumping through the Empire state.

It was the issue of American rights on which the republican presidential candidate laid most stress today—this and the moral issue of whether or not there should be, according to the republican beliefs, a surrender to the principle of force, as exemplified in the administration's enactment of the Adamson eight hour bill.

SPLENDID WORK SHOWN BY HIGH MANUAL TRAINING

The exhibit of the manual training department of the La Crosse high school at the Inter-State fair shows the progress which has been made along this line in the past few years. Among other things which are exhibited are two lamps, five feet high, which were made in the turning classes. There is not a flaw in the construction of these lamps, and the curves are as graceful as those on any manufacturer's product. There are also some fine library tables, piano benches and music cabinets on exhibition.

The work of the foundry and forge departments is shown here too. There are a rattle and a snap flask for the foundry and a set of wrenches and cogwheels. These were all made by boys in high school and in the case of the foundry casting were made from patterns which the boys had constructed the semester before in pattern-making. Mr. Peart, head of the manual training department said that during the last year one ton of iron had been cast into grates for the different public schools.

Another side of this work which is not neglected is the drawing and designing. Every student is compelled to take one semester of drawing for every semester of woodworking or machine shop. The boys learn to design some of the most complex machines of the day and to draw complete plans for the construction of a bungalow. A house has been completed from plans made by Ralph Weeks while taking this course.

"An acre of performance is worth a whole world of promise."—Howell.

Editorial La Crosse Tribune Sept. 29

"The old fashioned home was a great student of detail. Thereby it lived amply and saved money. It had meats, fruits and vegetables in a way that would seem lavish now. This was not merely because prices were lower. People knew what things ought to cost and they bought shrewdly."

As the country has increased in wealth, many families have gotten away from this thoughtful study of domestic economy. Purchases are made largely by telephone. As prices have advanced, people are inclined to revert to the careful old fashioned practices of intelligent buying."

Is there a more economical or more satisfactory way than to come and see what you buy?

WILLIAMS POINTS OUT HOW CITIES SUFFER BY LAW

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Sept. 29.—Burt Williams, the democratic candidate for governor, carried his campaign into northern Wisconsin with a vigorous attack on the railroad grade construction law, as amended by the last legislature, in his speech here last night. He dealt particularly with the local situation in which the people of the city of Eau Claire have been forced, by virtue of the decision of the railroad rate commission, to pay upwards of $35,000 toward changing the grade of the Northwestern railroad in addition to being forced to close several important streets.

"Through the operation of this law," Mr. Williams said, "the taxpayers of Eau Claire are to be compelled to pay thousands of dollars toward changing the grade of the Northwestern railroad, while if the present administration had served the interests of all the people instead of trying to secure tax reductions for special interests this condition would not be present here today. And many other Wisconsin cities are facing the same deplorable condition as is Eau Claire where the rights and powers of cities have been taken away in order to turn in large sums of money from taxpayers to benefit the private business of railroad corporation."

Less than three thousand were in the stands at 3 o'clock when it was announced that if possible the game would start at 3:30 p. m.

FOUR BIG ISSUES TO BE ENUNCIATED BY WILSON ON HIS TOUR

By ROBERT J. BENDER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
ASHBURY PARK, N. J., Sept. 29.—Four issues—peace, prosperity, business preparedness and the eight-hour law—will be enunciated by President Wilson when he goes into the country to wind up his campaign for re-election, it was learned Friday. These issues he regards as the ones upon which the voters will vindicate or denounce his administration.

The president says he is in great trim for the coming trips west. He is enthusiastic about going. The man on the street, the president believes, is thankful, first of all, that his country is at peace. For that reason his foremost issue will be an appeal to the voters not to accept what the president terms "radical changes of policy which may alter the whole aspect of the nation's life, and endanger 'the present terms of peace and good will with the world.'"

JOHN D. BELIEVED TO BE BILLIONAIRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—John D. Rockefeller, billionaire, is the way the oil king could have his cards engraved and everyone in Wall street would accept it as a fact.

When Standard Oil of New Jersey stock hit $567 a share Thursday, it brought the counter value of the stock of Standard Oil as it existed before the government dissolved it as a naughty trust up to $2,014 a share. This $2,014 represents the added values of each fraction of stock in subsidiary concerns to which each share of the old Standard of New Jersey was entitled.

John D. owns 247,692 shares with a par value of $24,769,200. The value of these holdings at the time of the dissolution was $167,194,100. The value today, with Thursday's closing quotations as the basis, is $498,869,028.44, or nearly half a billion. This, with Rockefeller's holdings in various banks, railroads, enormous blocks of national, state and municipal bonds, brings his total up to the billion mark.

MOUNTAIN VIEW, N. H., Sept. 29.—Fred L. Small, formerly of Boston, was arrested Friday in connection with the murder of his wife.

Small's house, which is situated on the shores of Ossipee lake, was totally destroyed by fire at 11 o'clock Thursday night. The body of Mrs. Small was found with a rope tied around her neck. It is believed she was strangled and burned alive with the house.

The Illinois and Wisconsin artillery will be relieved by four batteries of Virginia field artillery, one New Hampshire battery and one Maryland battery.

The new troops will be fitted into the twelfth provisional division, which is now returning here on a "hike" from Austin.

Date Not Set

The First Illinois artillery, the Wisconsin battery and the Eighth Illinois infantry are taking part in the march. They will reach here on October 4. The date for the departure of the troops has not been determined.

FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS DEFENDED BY BANKERS' HEAD

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 29.—President James K. Lynch of San Francisco, addressing the American Bankers' association at the opening of its general convention Thursday morning, congratulated the association on the substantial progress made during the past year, both in membership, which has now reached a total of 16,916 banks, and in its numerous activities, which have exercised a profoundly beneficial influence on the banks of the country.

The most important subject before the bankers of America today, said President Lynch, is the Federal Reserve act and the operation of the twelve reserve banks. Criticism of the reserve banks had come from different sources: from the banks in the financial centers, which objected to the absorption by the reserve banks of the supply of bank acceptances; from the small banks in the more remote districts, which complained that the requirements for eligible paper are too strict; and from the member banks generally, protesting against an enforced investment which carries no immediate prospect of dividends and on reserve deposits on which no interest is paid. To all these objections he pointed out that conditions for two years past have been abnormal and furnished no evidence of what the reserve system could do, but that much had already been accomplished. Bank acceptances for the first time have been made possible as credit instruments in connection with the import and export of merchandise, the dollar credit is making its way in South America and in the Orient and our national banks are opening branches in foreign countries.

START CAMPAIGN FOR A $2,000,000 CHARITY FUND

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—A systematic campaign to raise $2,000,000 for charity by December 1 has been started in New York by the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Institutions.

Dispensation of the fund will take place during 1917. The federation will act as a co-operative clearing house both for collection and disbursement and thus hopes to abolish duplication of effort amongst the one hundred odd New York Jewish charities gathered under its banner.

Under the regulations each of the participating charities is to have at least as much money applied to it as in average years heretofore. In addition to the fund for this distribution the federation intends to collect a surplus of $200,000 for general work. This brings the total needed to $2,000,000. A decreased soliciting cost and goodwill on the part of the givers, because once giving they will be assured of not being solicited again, are depended on to yield the sum aimed at.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is sign you have been eating too much meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces, of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

WEALTHY ITALIAN BELIEVED VICTIM OF THE VENDETTA

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 29.—The deep, impenetrable mystery of an Italian vendetta enshrouds a tragedy that has held the attention of the people of Boston and scarcely less closely that of all New England since Wednesday night of last week, when Gaspare DiCola, wealthy fruit importer, head of the local committee of the Italian Red Cross, and widely known for his philanthropies among the Italians of Boston, was slain from ambush as he was about to enter his home in the fashionable section of Brookline.

At the time of the murder DiCola was returning home with his wife from an entertainment in Boston. Within a moment after the couple had alighted from a car two men stepped swiftly from the shadow of a doorway and fired five shots at DiCola, all of which took effect. The victim died in the hospital at an early hour the next morning. Those closest to him are sure that he knew the identity of his murderers, but he died without revealing his knowledge. It has also been intimated that the wife of the victim might possibly throw some light on the identity of the slayers and the motives for their deed but so far she has revealed nothing that would aid the authorities in clearing up the mystery.

From the start the police have worked on the theory that the murder was done in revenge by an agent of some secret society that had marked DiCola for destruction. The motive, in the opinion of the police, was revenge. Business associates of the murdered man assert that he was very uncommunicative regarding his business and personal affairs, although he had a reputation in all his business transactions of being the "soul of honor." All are of the opinion that the tragedy was the result of a vendetta, probably something of an ancient origin.

The mystery of DiCola's murder has been complicated by the revelation of a romance connected with his early days in the little Sicilian town of which he was a native. More than 25 years ago, so the story runs, DiCola fell in love with a pretty Sicilian girl, a native of the village, an employee in the macaroni factory owned by DiCola's father. The girl was poor and DiCola was the college bred son of one of the town's wealthiest families, according to the story.

Both families discouraged marriage between the two. The girl finally married Maurice Bova, a peasant. They had two children, but the woman's love for DiCola overpowered her love for her babies, and on his part he was willing to sacrifice money and position to have the girl of his heart.

The couple crept from the little village one night and came to America. The mother brought one child with her. The other, it is said, was left with the father. The child brought to America died.

The other child, who had been left behind, is the person who is said to have revealed the story of DiCola's early romance and alleged elopement, Antonio Bova, as is his name, followed his mother to America in early youth. Bova, now employed as a barber in a town adjacent to Boston, says that for years it was his aim to have his mother and DiCola united in marriage as Catholics. A year ago his last endeavor failed, and since that time he had not spoken to either of them.

It is thought that the secret elopement sealed the murdered man's lips on his deathbed. He was conscious up to the last and made his will an hour before his death. Following the affixing of the required cross on the document his lawyer urged him to reveal the identity of his assassin. The dying man gritted his teeth, closed his eyes and refused to answer.

There is reason to suspect that shortly before the tragedy DiCola had seen or learned something that gave him a foreboding of his impending doom. On the day of the shooting he had attended a meeting of the Red Cross committee at Tremont temple. Several of his friends and co-workers in philanthropic work noticed that he was very nervous while on the platform of the meeting. He seemed unusually pale and said very little. While these associates have been unable to throw any light on the tragedy, all appear to agree with the police theory that the murder was the result of a vendetta, the threads of which had their origin across the seas in the days of long ago.

BUILDINGS ARE IMPROVED BY MAUSTONITES

MAUSTON, Wis.—(Special.)—H. J. Hageman has torn down the eyesore on Division street and has let a contract to build an up-to-date addition to his building, which he will use for a dairy lunch room. It will be two stories and will greatly help to beautify that particular part of the street that heretofore was an eyesore.

N. Y. Jordan has purchased the Bowes property just west of J. Vogl's saloon and expects to tear down the present building and replace it with a modern two story stone building.

Kastner's new hitching and feed barn in connection with his blacksmith shop will be undoubtedly the largest one story building in the city. Work is progressing rapidly. This will be one of the finest cement structures here. It will be in fact a great improvement to that district around the creamery.

WORKER ASKS BOB TO TALK ABOUT EIGHT HOUR DAY

Biggest Crowd of Rhinelander's Recent History Greeted the Senator

WANT TARIFF FACTS

Senator Makes First Speech in Forrest County to One Thousand Who Brave the Rain

RHINELANDER, Wis., Sept. 29.—When the 1,200 people who greeted Senator La Follette as Chris Roeckke the county chairman, introduced him on Thursday night had concluded their hearty and noisy welcome to the senator, and before the senator began his address, a workman in the body of the hall called:

"Talk to us about the eight hour day."

"Oh you want to hear about that and then go home," replied the senator, and while the crowd laughed the senator said he would talk of that and many other things. The workman came back, "No, senator, I have never had opportunity to hear you before. I will stay and hear you out, but I wanted to be sure you would speak upon the eight hour day."

Then there was a demand from the audience that the senator speak upon the tariff. An old man arose and asked "Senator, how do you define tariff?"

The senator explained how when goods are imported from foreign countries they are detained at the custom houses at the ports of entry on the sea coasts or borders of this country, that before they are permitted to be removed from the custom houses and offered for sale in this country the government levies a charge. These charges vary with the class of articles. This charge which is levied and collected by the government is a tariff. He then explained how that tariff affected the price of all similar articles, all goods that come into competition.

He said that he was in favor of a tariff that measured the difference in the labor cost between this and competing foreign countries. The senator went into great detail in explaining his position with respect to the tariff and said he was not in favor of a tariff which would enable those protected to extort unreasonable prices and force up the cost of living upon the American people.

Mr. La Follette later discussed the eight hour law and his position with respect to that legislation won the approval of the audience as did also his position upon the tariff and preparedness.

This meeting Thursday night was said by local men to be the largest political meeting held in this city in years.

In the afternoon Senator La Follette delivered the first political speech he ever made in Forrest county in the exhibits building on the fair grounds at Crandon. There were more than 1000 crowded into the building. Notwithstanding the down-pour of rain the people came from all over the county to hear the senator.

Friday the senator will speak at Ladysmith. Saturday he will address a morning meeting at Barron, an afternoon meeting at Rice Lake and an evening meeting at Cumberland.

SECOND WOMAN IN HOTEL TRAGEDY TO STAY FOR INQUEST

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 29.—Mrs. Joseph C. Le Duc, of Chicago, has volunteered to remain in Philadelphia to testify at the coroner's inquest to place blame for the deaths of J. C. Gravier and Mrs. Harry Belzer of New York and clear up the three-cornered hotel tragedy.

The condition of Mrs. Le Duc, shot by Mrs. Belzer, who killed Gravier and then committed suicide, was so much improved Friday that physicians no longer fear for her life.

Police frankly scouted rumors of a "third woman" as the one who registered as the wife of Gravier. They say the case is closed to them except for the formality of the inquest. Mrs. Le Duc was not asked to remain for this ceremony but when she learned her testimony might hasten matters she made known her intention.

Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." Can Be Cured.
Mean thinking is a habit with some of us and it can be cured just as any other bad habit can. Good time to begin, about now.

UNNATURALLY TIRED

Some men and many women feel tired all the time. This is not natural. Fatigue following work or great exertion is normal but to be constantly tired indicates a diseased condition, usually thin blood. Backache generally accompanies this state of the system.

Such sufferers are usually pale but not necessarily thin. In blonds the transparency of the skin is increased; in brunettes it is decreased and the complexion becomes muddy. The eyelids become a greyish blue.

This condition of thin blood, which doctors call anemia, is a dangerous one if allowed to progress but with proper treatment it may be speedily corrected.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain just the elements needed to build up the blood and restore the lost color and vitality. New energy circulates through the system with the enriched blood, the heart stops its alarming palpitating, color returns to cheeks and lips.

Nothing more is needed except sunlight, good air, proper food and rest. If you do not know exactly what rules to follow in these matters write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for booklets on the blood and diet. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"WHY NOT BLAME ME FOR DROUGHT?" ASKS GOVERNOR

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 29.—Gov. Philipp made reply to some of the statements of Candidate Burt Williams of Ashland Friday.

In a speech at Sheboygan Mr. Williams charged that the governor had given away $5,200,000 to the special interests.

"It is funny that I have not been made personally responsible for the loss of $3,500,000 to the farmers because of drought last summer," continued Gov. Philipp, "and $1,750,000 more occasioned by the early frost. There is no use of leaving this thing half done."

Gov. Philipp talked of each of the specific charges made in the Williams' speech. One of the charges alleged that a $1,200,000 dam site had been given away.

"It is difficult to see the justification of the charge," said the governor. "The railroad commission placed the valuation per horse power at $100. This is one-third of the valuation placed on the Kilbourn and Prairie du Sac dams."

"In regard to the reduction of taxes on grain elevators, the bill passed by the administration last session was put through so the Wisconsin operators could compete with the Minnesota operators. The taxation system formerly in vogue in this state was throwing all grain storage and elevator business to Minnesota. The present law largely conforms with the Minnesota statute."

The governor then discussed in detail the tax law on life insurance companies and the track elevation.

"I see I am charged with giving away $2,400,000 to fire insurance companies," he concluded. "I want to say that the bill calling for fire insurance regulation was fathered by Senator Bennett."

The fellow who waits for something to turn up will get it about as quick as the chap who sat down on a stump and waited for a cow to back up and be milked.

Mean thinking is a habit with some of us and it can be cured just as any other bad habit can. Good time to begin, about now.

PETEY DINK—He's Having a Time With His Personal Appearance

THE HASKIN LETTER

The Black Art

Do You Know That Kansas City Is the World's Center of Magic and King of Siam is a Magician?

(By Frederick J. Haskin.)

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 29.—IT is not generally known that this city is an American center for magic and kindred mysterious arts. Yet such is the case. Here dwells one of the high priests of the cult, in the shape of Dr. A. M. Wilson, for fifty-four years a practitioner of magic. A hundred years ago Dr. Wilson might have been burned for his mysterious powers; but now, in the intervals of his duties as a doctor of medicine and a university lecturer, he edits a paper published in the interests of magicians and conjurers.

Dr. Wilson will receive you in an every-day modern office quite free from skeletons, alambics, Rosicrucian formulae and other appurtenances of the magician's laboratory. Magic with him is an avocation, a pet hobby, and he will tell you all about it except how the tricks are done. He is in touch with magicians all over the globe by reason of his magazine, which finds its way into some queer corners. The King of Siam, for instance, is a feature of the mailing-list; and so are various prominent parties in Malta and India and Ceylon, to say nothing of New Zealand and Australia. King George of England is another name on the list that might be classed among the more prominent ones.

The doctor himself does not look old enough to have been practicing anything very actively fifty-four years ago, but he himself is authority for the statement that he took up the study of magic when the civil war was just beginning. He has stopped the active practice of the art now, though he may still absent-mindedly remove a rubber band from his wrist by pulling it through his arm instead of over his finger-tips as he talks to you.

Students of magic are commoner in the United States than most people realize, according to the doctor. There are fully twenty thousand people who "go in" for it regularly, besides ten thousand more who take an occasional interest. Of these, not more than two or three hundred are professionals who make their living by exhibitions on the stage. The rest are amateurs—a proportion somewhat higher than that obtained in most of the arts.

For instance, here in Kansas City there is a club of seven or eight members organized for the pursuit of magic, pure and applied. All of them are professional men, doctors and lawyers in daily life, but they have brought the magic art to a high pitch of perfection. Every once in a while they give an invitation exhibition at which the spell-bound audience fills a theater and watches a pretty photographer "levitated" into the atmosphere, along with kindred miracles.

According to Dr. Wilson, magic, conjuring and sleight of hand make one of the ideal hobbies for a professional man. It is possible to develop the art to a high pitch of perfection that calls for great dexterity and ingenuity as well as a thorough grounding in the principles of many of the sciences, especially chemistry, physics and acoustics. Inventive genius gets a free range in preparing original tricks, though whole libraries have been written and published on the subject, for the magic art is one of the very oldest. The doctor cites the case of a friend of his who is a wealthy New York engineer. He gives over an entire wing of his residence to a laboratory for the development of his ideas, and hires men to work them out for him. Sometimes he succeeds in baffling the experts. He has perfected one piece of apparatus, for example, into which the visitor drops a pack of playing cards. You can bring your own pack with you if you are unduly suspicious. Having dropped the pack in the box, you call for any card you choose, and the box will deliver it to you. While professionals recognize the principle, none of them has succeeded in figuring out how the trick is worked.

There are a number of societies of amateur magicians in this country. Devotees are most numerous in California, New York and Pennsylvania. Californians seem to go in for that sort of thing naturally; while New York is doubtless well represented on account of its large population. Just why Pennsylvania should be so rich in magicians is hard to say, but it is probably just an accident of birth. Dr. Wilson is careful to point out that magicians have to be born rather than made.

Magic is an art rather than a science, he explains, and without the gift one can no more acquire proficiency than he can learn to sing without a naturally good voice. In both cases long and patient practice is essential, and it has to be begun young. Not long ago a Chinese magician was performing in vaudeville in Omaha. His tricks were very good—so good that American professionals came to watch him and try to determine how they were done. He used very little apparatus, and later they took him to the home of one of their number and showed him some of the latest developments which impressed him greatly. But he could still baffie them all, professionals though they were, with the A-B-C of the business—breathing fire, passing coins through a table, and so on. "How long does it take to learn to do that in that way?" they asked him. "He young man," said the Chinaman—"three years. He old man—never." He explained that he had learned it from his father as a child, and that his family had been practicing magicians for six generations.

Moreover, to succeed on a stage requires poise and stage presence as well as dexterity. Dr. Wilson tells of one man he knew who was one of the best in the business so far as handling his tricks went, but who lacked the necessary presence. "He could sit here in this office," says the doctor, "and do tricks with the simplest apparatus or none at all that would simply baffie you." But his "act" was a failure. So there is apparently no danger that the profession will be overcrowded. It is among the amateurs that interest in magic is on the increase.

Besides those who practice for love of the game, there are men in certain callings who find that a little knowledge of elementary magic is a good thing for them. Explorers, for example, penetrating into countries inhabited by savages, find that a few tricks are more useful to impress the natives and earn respect than a hundred riflemen. To turn water into ink with a pass of the hand, to breathe fire, to plant a seed under a basket and show it after three minutes sprouted into shrub—these things bring home the greatness of the white man better than a telephone or an aeroplane. Traveling salesmen often go in for magic when they have the natural ability for it, according to Dr. Wilson. Some simple turn done as though absent-mindedly or unconsciously will sometimes arouse the "prospects'" interest and keep the salesman from being unceremoniously shown out.

In spite of all these followers, Dr. Wilson believes that the art of magic is not as highly regarded as it should be in the United States. He says that abroad, especially in England, the magician occupies a place analogous to that of the musician or the actor.

Nature's Creation Worked Wonders With Me.

MRS. THAYER AND BABY.

JUNE 21, 1916. "I had little hope of living. Nothing had helped me—none of my friends thought I could live. For twenty months I was in bed—almost helpless. For eleven months I could not talk above a whisper and I suffered much in many ways."

"After taking Nature's Creation a short time—I began to improve and hope returned. My mucus loosened, gradually became stronger—was able to sit up and then be up, to walk and talk aloud. Finally I was able to go about and then I began to enjoy life as I never had done; for I had never felt well. Now I am happily married and have a fine healthy boy—five and one-half months old when this photograph was taken. I am grateful to Nature's Creation and think that it will help others as it did me."

"Mrs. Nora Van Zant Thayer, 54 Center St., Dayton, Ohio."

Why we do not regard the professional magician as an artist no one has offered to explain. However, this state of affairs affects only the professional, who are but an insignificant fraction of the thousands who follow magic as a hobby and an avocation.

The magician technically divides his tricks into two classes—the illusions and the sleights. The sleights are accomplished by sheer speed and deftness of hand. The illusions are—illusions. You don't see what you think you see. No reputable magician makes claim of any other powers.

As for the famous Indian fakirs whose marvelous feats are sometimes heralded as transcending science, our professionals do not take much stock in them. Many of them can be worked by the same means that Occidental magicians use, and have been worked by Occidental magicians. There is the mango-tree trick for example, where a mango-tree is sprouted and grown from a seed under a cloth; or the basket trick where a boy creeps into a basket which is then stabbed through in every direction with a sword, to emerge unharmed. Both these tricks have been done by Europeans. On the other hand, there is the rope trick, which was actually investigated by the Society for Psychical Research. In this trick a rope is thrown into the air, where it hangs as though suspended. A boy climbs it, disappears, and falls to the ground in pieces. The pieces come together, and the boy bows to the applause.

It is the consensus of opinion that if this trick is worked at all, it is done by hypnotism, since it is obvious that the most accomplished boy could not go through an experience of that kind and emerge unruined. Hence, it is thought by some that the audience is hypnotized by the fakir. On the other hand, there is no record of anybody who saw the trick at first hand, though almost everybody has heard of it. Hence, another school, who say the trick was never worked at all but had its birth in the brain of an English officer telling tales to "tenderfeet."

While ready to admit that modern magic is subject to the laws of physical science, Dr. Wilson does not believe that the general public should be initiated into the mechanism. Maybe he is right. Maybe we ought to keep a few illusions. Now that Europe has punctured the dreams of universal peace and international brotherhood and kindred small matters, let us go on believing that a man in a Tuxedo can raise a rose-bush in a silk hat with a flip of one finger. And besides, the mere mechanism of a trick is no explanation. As one profound magician put it recently, "Tricks are tricks; but magic is an art."

HORSE RAISERS MAKING BIG MONEY DESPITE MOTORS

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—The European war has caused such a scarcity of horses in the United States that farmers who raise the adaptable Belgian, whose weight range from 1,200 to 1,500 pounds, makes it an excellent cavalry or police mount, are putting a high price on the animals which at the present time is being accepted by the horse dealer. While thousands of Percherons and Belgians, weighing from 1,500 to 1,800 pounds, are at present employed in drawing cannon and ammunition wagons on the battlefields, they are not so commonly used here as the lighter animal.

A cross between Percheron stock and the American horses makes an almost ideal general purpose animal, and a well matched team will bring from $500 to $600, where formerly a team could be purchased at $200 to $300. There is no importation of horses at this time and therefore American farmers are short of the adaptable Belgians, which in part accounts for the increased value.

HAS SEARCHLIGHT OF 1,280,000,000 CANDLE POWER

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Elberta Sperry, Brooklyn business man, has just built and put atop his building a searchlight of one billion 280 million candle power. It is sixty per cent stronger than the navy searchlight tried out here last May, which could be seen thirty-five miles away.

RELIEF BODIES MUST COMPLY WITH STATE LAW TO RECEIVE AID

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 29.—Fire department relief associations throughout Minnesota must conform strictly to the law of 1909 before more state aid is given them. Attorney General L. A. Smith instructed Public Examiner Andrew Fritz on Thursday. This law provides for boards of trustees of fire relief associations being composed of municipal officials and civilians appointed by the association. The ruling was given following the Faribault situation, which became the subject of a conference Thursday between Attorney General L. A. Smith and City Attorney Smith of Faribault.

The Doctor's Advice

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name, and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order from wholesaler.

Answer—Your system is run down. You need a good, bracing tonic and builder. You will find just what your system requires in three-grain cadomene tablets. These tablets exert an influence over the digestive and nervous systems. They should be used to build up your strength and restore your lost vitality, animation and physical forces.

"P. W. R." writes—"I seem to be shrinking in size. I am very pale and thin. I do not feel sick, but I am very weak. I want to increase my weight."

Answer—You are anaemic and the food you eat does not properly nourish your system. Three-grain hypochloride tablets cause proper food assimilation and increase weight and strength by affording perfect health.

"Rural" writes—"I have a very severe case of kidney trouble, and ask that you please prescribe for me. I have been suffering for six months."

Answer—In six months you should have been completely relieved of your trouble with proper treatment. Now I will prescribe what I have recommended thousands of times for kidney diseases. Get a tube of balmwort tablets, with full directions, from your drug store and begin using them at once. This is a most economical and effective treatment.

"Cairo" writes—"I'm nervous, tired, constipated. My tongue is coated and my complexion sick looking. Even my eyes look dull and yellow. I have headache constantly and don't sleep well."

Answer—You have allowed your blood to get in an impoverished condition. Your whole system is affected as a result. Start at once using three-grain sulphur tablets (not sulphur), and they will clean your system, relieve constipation and purify your blood.

Red Sox Begin Scoring at the Start of the Game But After That They Are Passed

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—New York Americans came from behind Thursday and won a ten inning game from Boston, 4 to 2.

Boston began scoring in the first inning when Janvrin doubled, took third on an infield out and tallied on a wild pitch. Another Boston run came in the third inning on a base on balls, a single and two sacrifices. After this Mogridge tightened up.

Mays, who had been pitching in fine form, weakened in the eighth, when New York tied the score on two singles and a double. In the tenth, Walters led off with a two bagger, went to third when Walker fumbled the drive and scored on Mogridge's single to left which escaped Lewis. Magee then sent Mogridge home with a triple. Scott played a great game at shortstop for Boston.

NORMAL MEN GIVEN FIRST SCRIMMAGE; HOLES ARE PICKED

Normal school football revelers "enjoyed" their first taste of scrimmage Thursday afternoon on the high school field when a short drill was produced to give the new men an idea of what a football game is like. The short period of excitement verified recent predictions that the forwards can stand considerable development while the backs can be depended upon for some classy ball.

Although the firsts were enabled to walk down the field when given the ball, time and again the seconds plowed through the line after unsuccessful attempts to touch the ends.

A change was made in the firsts when Bogda was transplanted to the seconds. Joe Baker taking his place at guard. The man Bogda possesses beef to waste but as far as accomplishing things in the line, his lack of experience does not allow him to present the goods. Several other shapelys will probably be made.

There is a possibility that Fagen may be put at his regular position at end and Miller shifted to some other position in the line where a weakness may be manifested.

The firsts lined up for the first time Thursday with Roellig at quarter, Grausnick at right half, Grounds left half, and Benjamin and Fagen playing full. McCormick held down the center position but was weak on passing, this being his first action on a gridiron. Joe Baker and Winner were guards and Meiner and Immell did the tackling. Kulcynski and Miller brought up the ends.

FAST TIME IN AUTOS

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—That some record breaking time will be displayed Saturday when entrants in the Astor cup race fly around the track at Sheepshead Bay speedway is evidenced by the performance of two Sunbeam cars in the elimination trials. These two machines, driven by Joseph Christaens and Louis Chevrolet, broke the record for cars of 300 inch displacement, each doing 115 miles an hour.

Champs Less Than Half a Game Behind Leading Superbas; Cheney, Falls Down

BROOKLYN, Sept. 29.—Philadelphia overwhelmed Brooklyn Thursday, 8 to 4, in the first game of their final series, the result of which may prove a decisive factor in the National league pennant race. By winning, Philadelphia reduced Brooklyn's lead to less than half a game. The contest, witnessed by a big crowd was an erratic exhibition. Both teams made costly errors and brilliant plays.

Alexander was on the mound for Philadelphia and although he was not at his best, he outpitched Cheney who started for Brooklyn and who was wild and ineffective. A one handed catch by Paskert was the fielding feature. Luderus and Daubert led at the bat.

PHILS ONLY ONE POINT BEHIND NERVY DODGERS

BY H. C. HAMILTON
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Only one point behind the Brooklyn Dodgers and with the advantage of the "jump" game of the all-important series tucked away, the Phillies stood poised Friday to drive their way into first place in the National league.

The Dodgers cracked badly through their collision with the fast traveling Phils Thursday.

Twenty thousand rabid fans yelled, cheered and then groaned and moaned as the Dodge machine showed fighting form, then began to hit the bumps and finally cracked open Thursday. They were looking Friday to Rube Marquette, Jeff Pfeffer or Sherrod Smith to take the mound and regain the lost ground.

On the game may hang the result of the pennant race.

The Phillies are likely to present Eppa Rixey as their pitching choice and when Rixey is right he is hard to beat.

In the American league the Red Sox have slipped slightly. Three games must be added to the Red Sox victory column before they will have the pennant clinched, in case the White Sox win all their remaining contests. The Yankees downed the leaders Thursday and were billed for another contest with them Friday.

BIG NINERS WORK HARD

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Big nine elevens are getting well into form after more than a week of hard practice. A swollen hospital list attests the vigor of the workouts but no players are seriously injured. The only Big Nine team having a game Saturday is Indiana which plays De Pauw at Bloomington.

GIANTS HANG UP 25TH STRAIGHT AGAINST BRAVES

Konetchy Gets Only Hit in the First Game with Schupp on Mound

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Boston was virtually eliminated from the National league pennant race here on Thursday when New York twice defeated the visitors, 2 to 0 and 6 to 0. The victories boosted New York's winning streak to twenty-five straight games.

Schupp gave another finished performance in the second game. Not a man reached base against him until the sixth inning, when Blackburn walked. Konetchy got the only hit in the seventh. These two were the only players to reach first base. Benny Kauff hit a home run in the third inning of the second contest, with the bases full. In this inning Gowdy was banished from the game for disputing a decision by Umpire Rigler.

In the first game Tesreau and Rudolph engaged in a pitching duel, and the New York hurler bested his rival. Robertson virtually decided this game by lifting the ball into the upper tier of the grandstand in the fourth inning for a home run.

Score: R H E
First game: R H E
Boston . . . 000000000—0 6 1
New York . . . 00010100x—2 6 1

Batteries: Rudolph and Gowdy; Tesreau and McCarty.

Second game: R H E
Boston . . . 000000000—0 1 3
New York . . . 01500000x—6 7 0

Batteries: Ragon, Neht, Gowdy and Blackburn; Schupp and McCarty.

The Giants are now in a position to capture third place from the Boston Braves and at the same time establish another new world record. Should they defeat the Braves on Friday and Saturday they will have beaten the run of straight victories piled up in 1902 by the Corsicans, Texas, club when they won twenty-seven. The Giants and Braves still have three games in the present series.

The Giants have seven games left on their schedule, four with Brooklyn and three with the Braves. If they take the three from the Braves, they will be in third place. If Brooklyn loses the next two games to Philadelphia at the same time, they will stand two games and a half behind the Dodgers, who then would be in second place. Then the Giants are billed to meet the Dodgers. If they can turn in four straight victories over the Dodgers and should the Braves help out by defeating the Phils five games out of six in their last series, the Giants would be tied for first place on the last day of the season. They can win the pennant if the Braves take all six games from the Phils, provided the other foregoing things happen.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Thursday's Hero
Benny Kauff. Benny stepped to the plate in the third inning of the second Graves-Giants game and whanged the ball to deep center field with the bases full. It was the violet's ninth circuit swat of the year.

Only one hit was slapped out off the delivery of Ferdie Schupp, who twirled the Giants to their twenty-fifth consecutive victory in the second contest.

Thirty-five thousand fans journeyed to the Polo grounds to see the Braves and Giants, while the best the Dodgers could muster was about 20,000.

The Phils played better baseball at every stage of the game in taking the opening encounter from the Dodgers. Alexander pitched good baseball and besides lammed out a hit that swept the bases clean in the fourth.

Washington scored four runs on its eight hits against Philadelphia's one run and five hits, and the Athletics have run their lost column up to 115.

The Yanks yanked the Red Sox down half a game in their dash to the world's series.

Chicago was idle, through rain, so the White Sox moved forward.

George Mogridge, Donovan's southern recruit, applied the boot to the American league leaders.

FORMER NORMAL HEAD HELPS SOLVE JUVENILE PROBLEMS FOR SWIFTS

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—A big step in solving juvenile problems is being taken by Chicago firms employing boys and young men.

"Learn and go higher," is the slogan adopted by Chicago employers who, following the lead of Swift & Company, packers, are offering inducements and incentives to youthful ambition in the shape of helpful organizations, night schools and branch libraries.

Lewis Atherton, former superintendent of the La Crosse, Wis., state normal school, is in charge of the work at Swifts.

"To train the boys to a higher standard is the object in offering these facilities of study," explained Atherton. "We are offering many special inducements to the youth who takes advantage of the school, and we encourage him according to his aptitude."

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 29.—The Stewards' club recently celebrated with a Rhode Island clambake at Keystone Park, following the election of Frank A. Knapp of this city as president of the International Stewards' association and selection of this city for the 1917 convention.

WANTED TO WORK

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Carrying an alarm clock down Madison street in Chicago is not the way to escape attention. But Donald Sutherland, 16, a Minneapolis, Minn., schoolboy, was too young to know that and local detectives arrested him. At the police station, Donald, with his bundle and alarm clock, said he was tired of going to school and wanted to work. His father was notified.
